

Chennai gastroenterologist elected academic governor of India region

October 25, 2023 08:17 pm | Updated 08:17 pm IST - CHENNAI

THE HINDU BUREAU

COMMENTS SHARE

READ LATER

T.S. Chandrasekar, fourth from right, along with other elected Academic Governors of the American College of Gastroenterology for their respective regions. | Photo Credit: SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

The American College of Gastroenterology (ACG) has elected T.S. Chandrasekar, chairman and chief interventional gastroenterologist, MedIndia Hospitals, as the Academic Governor for the India region.

Limited time offer

Make most of your 2nd free article. Get 14-day free trial Or Signup to unlock more articles

FREE TRIAL

According to a press release, he assumed charge during the annual scientific meeting of the ACG held at Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada on October 22. He will serve in this position for three years from 2023. ACG is an international medical association of gastroenterologists founded in 1932, and has over 14,000 physicians from 86 countries as members. He will be responsible for planning, implementing, mentoring and overseeing the academic programmes and research initiatives for the benefit of Indian members of the ACG.

Latest News

7 mins ago - Chhattisgarh Assembly
Chhattisgarh polls: Priyanka Gandhi promises ₹500 subsidy per gas cylinder, loan waiver for SHGs

12 mins ago - Chhattisgarh Assembly
Chhattisgarh assembly polls: CM Baghel files nomination from Patan seat

18 mins ago - Technology
ChatGPT Plus rolls out file upload and analysis feature in new beta

33 mins ago - Andhra Pradesh
Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw speaks to Jagan over relief measures for train accident victims

READ MORE STORIES

MAYO CLINIC

World-class health care for you

Introducing Mayo Clinic's Representative Office in India

The India office does not provide medical care

Learn More

ADVERTISEMENT

Trending

- Chennai Central railway station — A showpiece of Dravidian architecture